

KATHLYN WILLIAMS STARS IN "THE CARPET FROM BAGDAD"—TALE OF MYSTICISM

Kathlyn Williams is the main star in a new Selig production, "The Carpet From Bagdad." The plot of this picture carries through New York, Egypt, the ancient city of Bagdad, and the desert of Sahara. It is a tale of Eastern mysticism, of temples and Mosques, and of plots and counter-plots. A precious rug being stolen starts the star cast in this screen play out on a mighty weird and interesting adventure.

BABY NAMED FOR LILLIAN DREW

Lillian Drew, Essanay's leading woman with the company at Chattanooga, Tenn., now is a godmother. Mrs. eGorge Durham of North Chattanooga named her baby for Miss Drew and requested that she be the godmother. The baby is Lillian Drew Durham. Miss Drew is planning to borrow the baby for photoplay work soon in a play that requires a child for one of the scenes. The mother is delighted and anxiously waiting to see her baby in a photoplay.
